

BUILDING BRIDGES: Behavioral and Public Health Collaborating for all North Dakotans

Building Bridges:
Behavioral and Public Health

Center for Rural Health University of North Dakota

This Project ECHO series is focused on providing support to substance use disorder (SUD) counselors, social workers, public health professionals, disease investigators, and other behavioral health providers through education on understanding the basics of substance abuse and high-risk diseases including HIV, hepatitis, and other sexually transmitted infections. Sessions will include case presentations, illness management, collaborative care practices, and resources available in North Dakota.

TeleECHO™

Clinics: Description

WHAT: Live training via Zoom

WHEN: 12:00 – 1:00 pm Central 2nd
Wednesday* of every month through July 2023

LENGTH: 60 minutes

WHO: Substance use disorder counselors, public health professionals, and other behavioral health providers

FREE CE: Healthcare Professionals,
Licensed Addiction Counselor, and Social Work

For more information and to register for upcoming sessions: [https://tinyurl.com/
ProjectECHO-Building-Bridges](https://tinyurl.com/ProjectECHO-Building-Bridges)

TeleECHO™ Clinic Topics

1. Crossroads of Substance Use and Infectious Diseases
2. Crossroads of Substance Use and Infectious Diseases (repeat of session 1)
3. On Your Own, or Are You? Get to Know Your Partners and Services Provided
4. Harm Reduction, What is it?
5. Meeting People Where They Are
6. Law and Ethics: What to Do When Conflicts Occur
7. Reflections of Medication Assisted Treatment
8. Words Matter: The Power of Language to Strengthen Services for Substance Use Disorder and Sexually Transmitted Infections
9. Linking Individuals with Support Services
10. Intersectionality
11. Suicide Prevention Strategies: Is Your Community Ready?
12. Overdose Prevention Strategies: Is Your Community Ready?

*Schedule is subject to change

Health & Human Services

